

Keith Molin, executive director of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) brings a vision of revitalization to the Authority. Mr. Molin has served as Interim Director since April of 2008 and was officially appointed by the MSHDA Board of Directors on September 24, 2008.

His vision for a 21st century MSHDA centers around ideas to improve the quality of life for Michigan residents by focusing on providing safe and affordable housing through homeownership and rental programs; ending homelessness; and revitalizing neighborhoods and downtowns through urban development initiatives – creating vibrant communities throughout Michigan.

As former director of the Michigan Departments of Labor and Commerce under Governor William G. Milliken, he is no stranger to state government. He also served at one time as a member of the MSHDA board during the Milliken administration.

Mr. Molin has been involved in public policy issues, including economic development, housing, and urban redevelopment – all invaluable experience to bring to the housing and community development industry in Michigan.

His leadership and management skills have been honed by a long career as Senior Associate Director of Athletics at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and most recently an interim in a similar position at the University of Pittsburgh.
